

Search Inbox

Back to Messages

Mark as Unread

Report Spam

Delete

Messages

Updates 48

Sent

Between You and Joshua Jeffrey Kekeoa Lowell

Joshua Jeffrey Kekeoa Lowell November 2 at 6:59pm Report

Alright, So I am pretty sure I might be the last person on Earth you ever wanted or expected to hear from. But I'm writing you this message and I hope you will take the time to read it.

I just want to say, that it's been almost three years since the collections of memories of our past have been there. I know at times it is probably easy for you to bottle up hatred for me and mass amounts of resentment, but I want you to take into consideration that the person who I was three years ago, isn't who I am today.

I think we both have been on plenty of journey's in three years time and we have become different people. I know in my heart you aren't the same Adam Flanders who I fell madly in love with when I was the Joshua Lowell you fell in love with. We have changed, evolved, for the better.

I am not who I was when I was 16 years old. And I am sure you are not who you were when you were 19 years old. Time and challenges have made us different people, so I hope that you understand that. I don't want you to hate a person that doesn't exist anymore.

When I was 16, I was young and very naive. As were you when we were dating. This was our first shot at love Adam, of course we were going to make huge mistakes and really hurt each other. It's only natural. But it will never fail to surprise me, how much we loved each other. I can't believe it's been 4 years since that fall of 05' that we spent together. I'm sure you can't believe it either.

I'm sure you blame me for everything that happened. I don't necessarily blame you to do so. But I was YOUNG Adam, you can't expect me to have made such adult decisions at such a young age. Even though I was mature for my age, I needed to grow up still. And so did you. All the shitty things that went down, made us who we are today. I know you are a good person today, and I know I am a good person today. We have changed.

I guess it bugs me that we don't have what most couple's do. For a love that was so passionate and so intense, we don't even have the luxury of being something in each others lives. I know the series of events that occurred three years ago don't necessarily promote that. But you are still in my heart Adam, and you aren't going anywhere. What we had was special and it was one of a kind. Nothing in our futures will ever mimic what we had with each other, and only will each other know what we had between us.

I know you still think of me, or still love me. I just want to reach out to you. I still think that maybe nobody else in the world could understand you like I do. I know your deepest pain and secrets and I know a lot about your core sense of being. I don't think you are a bad person, or have I ever (swear on my life), ever stopped caring about you. There was only so much I could do. I don't think you are evil or psycho, but like me, at times you are just misunderstood. Even after what happened and even today, I wish nothing but the best for you and all the happiness in the world, because I know deep down you need it and have earned it after being so strong, after you have gone through so much in life. Before we were together and after we were together. So just know I care about you, and want the best for you.

I keep running in nostalgia lately. Like the whole "No on 1" campaign in Maine. I work for the Human Rights Campaign in NYC, so we talk about Maine and the fight to keep it. So since it's titled "No on 1", I

Create an Ad

Made Men Made Here

You want to be a "made man?" You think you got what it takes to rule the streets? Click now and show us what you got. Play Mafia Wars!

Like

More Ads

constantly think of the last time something like this was in Maine, when we both fought that together. So I keep thinking it's a sign, that amongst other little things here and there that are too complex to describe, or I don't know if you even remember much of our little things we did when we were together or whatever. It does seem like forever ago.

So I don't know what else to say, I have so much I want to say to you after three years. But I can't really compose it all in one message. I don't even know if you can contact me, but if that is an issue, and you DO want to respond. Make a email account unregistered. I'm not interested in making your life worse. I could never prove you wrote an email anyways. But I just hope you are doing okay and I hope that life has brought you to a good place. I know you like nobody else and I feel like you are the same with me. Sure, what happened sucked, but why throw that all away. We are different people and it is different times. Good luck tomorrow in Maine, I'm rooting for you and every other person who has worked so diligently on the campaign. I'll be at a "Glee" cast signing in NYC, but can't wait to watch the news and find out. I know we can pull it off.

Take care of yourself and know you haven't left my heart. I've said it before, but I wish nothing but the best for you Adam. And I hope the best has either come for you or is coming your way.

Reply:

Attach:

Reply

Back to Messages